I will paste two evaluations of the same answer. The first is from a thin instrument, the second from a thick instrument with six named lenses.

Return only the following. Do not interpret, do not compare them, do not judge whether either is correct.

From the thick evaluation:

1. Which lenses are marked FAILS.
2. Which failure the final verdict treats as decisive, quoting the sentence from the verdict that shows this.
3. The passage that lens quotes under "Pointing at", verbatim.

From the thin evaluation:
4. Every sentence in which it criticises the response, quoted verbatim, in the order they appear.
5. Its overall assessment sentence, verbatim.

Do not say whether the thin criticisms match the thick failure. Do not add commentary.
